The Crystal Ball Exercise

You look into a crystal ball and can see into the future to the end of next year. A great year is ahead of you! Write down what your future holds according to the crystal ball.

Step 1: Describe the year ahead of you based on the crystal ball’s prediction. 2015 has come and gone and we “ROCKED” because we achieved the following specific & measurable outcomes.

_________________________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________________________

Step 2: What are the top 5 things ranked in order that are specific and measurable that made it such a great year? These are the activities that led to the result in question 1.
1. ________________________________________________________________
2. ________________________________________________________________
3. ________________________________________________________________
4. ________________________________________________________________
5. ________________________________________________________________

www.ceocoachinginternational.com